Front Cover: Shortly after the turn of the century, the beautifully carved Spider Rock was unearthed from a hilltop on the Salt Fork of the Brazos near its confluence with the Double Mountain Fork in Stonewall County, Texas. About sixteen inches square, its mysterious symbols and concentric circles spawned a quest that is now part of West Texas history and folklore. Back Cover: In 1905 a second stone map was chopped from the roots of a huge oak tree in Callahan County, seventy miles southwest of the Spider Rock site. Only these blueprints and tracings of the enigmatic stones survive.
